

Peer Review Process

All articles submitted to OUSL Journal will undergo double blind peer review by professional referees who have expertise in the subject area(s) represented by an article.

The manuscripts submitted to the OUSL Journal will initially be pre-screened by the Editorial Board members, and if suitable will be referred to two specialists in the relevant field. The two reviewers are experts in the relevant discipline with anonymity for both the author and the other referee.

If there is a disagreement between the reviewers, the manuscript would be sent to a third reviewer. When revision of a manuscript has been requested, the revised manuscript should be submitted within two months. If the article is not submitted within the stipulated time period, the manuscript will be considered as a new submission. The accepted date will be the day when the Editorial Board has agreed it to be publishable after the reviewing process.

We aim to complete the peer review process within six (06) months, but it depends on the response of the peer reviewers.

The final decision regarding the acceptance/rejection will be made by the Editorial Board based on the comments of the referees.

Articles submitted to the journal are deposited with Crossref and the articles are screened by Crossref Similarity Check.